

Pace e Bene

We recently hosted an evening called the Radical Nonviolence of Jesus with Brendan McKeague who works for Pace e Bene in Australia.

Brendan McKeague

Pace e Bene is a nonviolence service that works with communities in Australia and North America on issues of non-violence and spirituality. Brendan was in the UK to train people to give Pace e Bene courses in the UK.

The study and reflection evening at Katherine house was well attended and people were very interested in taking the issues further.

The Faith & Justice Commission ran a Pace e Bene course in Manchester in 2004/2005, which was the first of its kind in the UK. After the success of the evening with Brendan we are hoping to run a new Pace e Bene course later this year.

Peter Richardson, the Faith & Justice fieldworker, also gave a talk about Pace e Bene to the National Justice & Peace Network AGM 2006.

For more information about Pace e Bene see www.paceebene.org

PACE • BENE

PEACE & ALL GOOD